

Salamanders

Body

Salamanders are amphibians that are four to six inches long. They have a small body ,short legs and a tail.

Habitat

Salamanders live on all of the continents except Antarctica . On the continents they live in wetland areas, in logs, under rocks and in water

Food

Salamanders eat a lot of things they eat Frogs, Tadpoles and bugs, but they only eat at night because they are nocturnal, that means they sleep in the day and wake up at night.

Fun facts

- .the longest salamanders are six feet long
- .they can have poisonous skin

Life cycle

When they are two weeks old they go through metamorphoses and lose their gills this takes about five weeks and when it is done it is an adult.

